Welcome TO DEKALB COUNTY!

DeKalb County
GEORGIA

DEKALB HISTORY CENTER

On behalf of our citizens, welcome to DeKalb!

It is an honor to serve as DeKalb's chief executive officer as well as former superintendent of the DeKalb County School District.

With 740,000 residents and an emphasis on collaboration, DeKalb boasts the perfect complement of diversity and unity. It is home to immigrants from more than 100 countries, speaking more than 100 languages.

DeKalb is synonymous with success. The county is home to artists, athletes, architects and entrepreneurs; owners of construction companies and auto dealerships; high-tech and engineering firms. Blessed with a lush tree canopy and wide green spaces, DeKalb is also home to some of metro Atlanta's most prestigious residential communities, and you'll find some of the nation's most prominent houses of worship and revered spiritual leaders here as well.

You will find more than a half dozen great educational institutions, including Emory and Oglethorpe universities. Our school district is a leader in STEM curricula, and students can receive tailored education with program options such as theme, magnet, international baccalaureate and Montessori.

Many of the region's leading medical facilities and hospitals, including Emory and Oglethorpe universities, Emory Decatur Hospital, the renowned Children's Hospital of Atlanta and, of course, the nation's Centers for Disease Control and Prevention are found in DeKalb.

And that's not to mention thousands of acres of parks, including Stone Mountain Park, Arabia Mountain and many other natural assets.

It is with a collectively warm heart and open door that we invite new residents and encourage citizens from throughout the region, the nation and the world to make DeKalb County home!

Welcome TO DEKALB COUNTY!

On behalf of the DeKalb Chamber of Commerce and the communities we serve, welcome to DeKalb County! We're glad you've chosen to make DeKalb your home.

DeKalb County has a rich history. Our diverse communities—growing families, young professionals, business leaders and those retiring from life careers—make this county one of the best places to call home.

DeKalb is home to world-class bioscience and research institutions, including the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. We are home to premier healthcare and higher learning institutions, including Emory University, Georgia Piedmont College and Emory Decatur Hospital. We are home to the largest dinosaur exhibit and IMAX screens at our Fernbank Museum of Natural History and we are home to the largest farmer's market in the southeastern region of the country.

This guide will show you what DeKalb has to offer, and we hope it will help you feel more at home. Whether you enjoy visiting an antique market, a brew pub, some of Atlanta's best restaurants and bars, or a farm-to-table dining experience, looking for stellar educational opportunities; or wanting to start a business, DeKalb County has something for you.

The DeKalb Chamber of Commerce is here to help you become an active and engaged member of our community. When you prosper, we all prosper.

Welcome home!

About the DeKalb CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The DeKalb Chamber of Commerce is a membership organization for businesses located in or that have an interest in DeKalb County. For 81 years, DeKalb Chamber has worked to help businesses succeed by working with local government to create a pro-business environment; tapping into potential customers for businesses; and providing access and information to support, promote and sustain business development in the county.

MISSION & VISION

The DeKalb Chamber of Commerce is the catalyst that attracts, supports and advances business and economic development interests in DeKalb County. The Chamber strives to be the convener of partnerships and facilitator of solutions.

FOUR CORE FOCUSES

To support the DeKalb Chamber mission, our work is reflected in our four core focuses:

- Education and Workforce Development
- Economic Development
- Public Advocacy
- Member Services

PRIORITY GOALS

With the support of the DeKalb Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and community partners, we have defined our priority goals. These goals will help us make an impact to our members and the business community, and align our work to advance our mission.

- Increase visibility of DeKalb Chamber's work in the community
- Define DeKalb Chamber as the resource portal for business information and connection
- Advocate for a business-friendly environment in DeKalb County and the metro Atlanta area
- Create an inviting environment that supports business expansion and growth of new entrepreneurs
- Provide access to people, information and opportunities
- Increase workforce opportunities through corporate partnerships

Uniquely DEKALB

One of DeKalb County's unique aspects is perhaps the way the county governs itself. DeKalb County is the only county in Georgia with a chief operating officer. The CEO position works independently of the legislative branch and represents all districts within DeKalb.

Avondale Estates, Brookhaven, Chamblee, Clarkston, Decatur, Doraville, Dunwoody, Lithonia, Pine Lake, Stonecrest, Stone Mountain and Tucker all call DeKalb County home. The county also includes portions of unincorporated Atlanta.

In 2017 for the first time in the county's history, voters approved a Special Purpose Local Option Sales Tax (SPLOST). DeKalb will receive an estimated $388 million in revenue during the next six years. DeKalb County officials said SPLOST proceeds will revitalize the area and will be used for road repairs, improvements to fire and police stations, park updates and improved recreation facilities.

DeKalb is also home to the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, American Cancer Society national headquarters, Yerkes Primate Center, Stone Mountain Park and DeKalb Peachtree Airport. The county's residents collectively speak more than 60 languages and has one of the largest refugee resettlement locations in the country—the city of Clarkston.

DeKalb is one of the few counties with access to some of Georgia's busiest interstates including portions of interstates 20, 285, 85 and 675. The county is also by the Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority (MARTA) with rail and bus services.

DeKalb County is also well known for its population size and diversity. The predominantly Black county is the fourth largest county in Georgia. The county's school system is also one of the largest in the state. The DeKalb County School District is Georgia's third-largest school system serving nearly 102,000 students, 137 schools and centers with 15,500 employees.

DeKalb also features a number of higher education institutions such as Oglethorpe University, Georgia Perimeter College, Mercer University-Atlanta, Columbia Theological Seminary, DeVry University, Georgia Piedmont Technical College, Agnes Scott College, Art Institute of Atlanta and Georgia Military College.

DeKalb GOVERNMENT

The DeKalb County Board of Commissioners (BOC) serves as the legislative branch of the DeKalb County government.

The DeKalb County BOC consists of seven part-time commissioners, all elected to a four-year term. DeKalb County is divided into five districts with one commissioner serving each district. There are two "super districts," one on the east side of the county and the other on the west side. Each super district is served by one commissioner. Therefore, every resident of DeKalb County is served by two commissioners, one with the district and the other with the super district.

Education in DEKALB

Education in DeKalb County is one of a kind because of the students, teachers and curriculum. DeKalb County has two school districts—City Schools of Decatur and DeKalb County School District. The county also has more than 50 private schools. There are also a number of colleges in DeKalb County.

City Schools of Decatur, an independent public school district, serves the four-square-mile area of Decatur. City Schools of Decatur has a total enrollment of approximately 5,600 students in nine schools—the Early Childhood Learning Center, five K-3 primary schools, the 4/5 Academy, one middle school and one high school.

The Early Childhood Learning Center offers programs for Decatur children up to 4 years of age. The primary schools all have fewer than 450 students each and are nestled within residential neighborhoods throughout Decatur. The 4/5 Academy at Fifth Avenue, Renfroe Middle School and Decatur High School serve all children in the district and are centrally located in the city.

Decatur students consistently perform above state and national averages on standardized tests. Special programs offered by City Schools of Decatur include the International Baccalaureate Primary Years Programme, Advanced Placement and joint enrollment courses, gifted education, Early Intervention Program (EIP), Georgia Virtual School, Back on Track Credit Recovery Program, after-school programs, career technical courses and English Language Learner (ELL) studies.

Each year City Schools of Decatur has ranked in the top 10 school districts in Georgia for SAT performance. Decatur High School has been named both an AP Challenge and AP Merit school in Georgia—only 10 high schools in Georgia were honored in more than one category.

Niche, a school ranking and review site, named three CSD schools among the top 100 elementary schools in Georgia. The schools named were 4/5 Academy at Fifth Avenue, Glennwood Elementary and Winnona Park Elementary.

More than 70 percent of teachers in the City Schools of Decatur system hold advanced degrees. Many teachers have multiple years of classroom experience and hold multiple certifications. The average classroom experience among teachers across the district is 13 years.

For more information on the City Schools of Decatur, visit www.csdecatur.net.

DeKalb County School District educates more than 101,000 students at 137 schools. Among the 22,000 students, 140 different languages are spoken and 160 nationalities are represented, making the DeKalb County Schools one of the most diverse school systems in the southeast.

On July 1, 2015, the school district selected a new superintendent, Dr. Stephen Green, who created the curriculum, instruction, assessment and accountability task force to focus on student learning, academic achievement and career readiness. All middle schools within DCSD are equipped with new wireless access points that can accommodate 96 devices per classroom.

Other technology improvements include a student resource portal that provides multitude of digital resources in one place. Through the portal students have access to Office 365 email accounts, Code.org, Desmos graphing calculator, BrainPop, Actively Learning, online versions of Word, PowerPoint, and Excel, as well as cloud storage.

The school district has battled several obstacles, including its most recent climb to accredited on advisement status, placing the school district a step closer to full accreditation. The student-to-teacher ratio is 23:1. With more than 14,000 full-time employees and 6,000 teachers the district is the third largest education system in Georgia.

DeKalb County School District announced that the four-year graduation rate for DCSD's class of 2018 was 75 percent, according to data from the Georgia Department of Education.

DCSD offers 14 high school athletic participation sports, including baseball, basketball (boys and girls), cross country (boys and girls), football, golf (boys and girls), gymnastics (girls), lacrosse (boys and girls), soccer (boys and girls), fast-pitch softball (girls), swimming (boys and girls), tennis (boys and girls), track (boys and girls), volleyball (girls) and wrestling.

For more information about DeKalb County School District, visit <http://www.dekalb.k12.ga.us>.

Opportunities for higher education are plentiful in DeKalb County, with 12 colleges and universities located within its footprint: Agnes Scott College, Art Institute of Atlanta Decatur, Columbia Theological Seminary, Georgia Piedmont Technical College, Georgia State University Perimeter College, DeVry University, Emory University, Mercer University-Atlanta, Georgia Military College, National Louis University-Atlanta, Oglethorpe University, Strayer University and Westwood College.

Additionally, the close proximity to downtown Atlanta gives residents access to Georgia State University, the Georgia Institute of Technology, and a variety of private specialized colleges, as well as other public colleges and universities in surrounding counties.

AVONDALE ESTATES

Uniquely

Along with being named after the birthplace of William Shakespeare, Avondale Estates gets some of its uniqueness from its one-of-a-kind Tudor-Revival style architecture.

The Tudor-Revival style architecture of city hall and other buildings along the main street are like no others in DeKalb County. The Avondale Estates Historic District is named on the National Register of Historic Places.

Avondale Estates also has a hidden gem with its historic theater in downtown. The Avondale Towne Cinema building, built in 1925, has been used as the city's town hall, a post office, movie theater, music venue and various studios.

The site of the nation's first Waffle House, which is now a museum, is also located in Avondale Estates. Waffle House was founded in 1955 by Avondale Estates residents Joe Rogers Sr. and Tom Forkner.

Avondale Estates has a thriving arts district which features ArtLot—a temporary city park to showcase the talent of local artists—formed by the Avondale Arts Alliance, residents and businesses.

Along with unique annual festivals such as Autumn Fest and Art-B-Que, the city also has thriving small businesses, thrift stores, parks and a lake with a lake house where activities are held with a picture-perfect view of local scenery.

Avondale Estates may be small, but it offers several options for dining, coffee and snacks. Rising Son restaurant features a southern-inspired menu with modern twists, Banjo Cold Brew Coffee serves cold coffee, snacks and other beverages. Good Karma Coffee Shop has gluten- and dairy-free treats to pair with coffee. Visit the Sweets Boutique of Icing Cake Designs or Southern Sweets Bakery for a sugar fix.

The city is home to Avondale Elementary School, DeKalb Elementary School of the Arts, DeKalb School of the Arts and The Museum School of Avondale Estates.

Welcome to Avondale Estates! We are centrally located in vibrant DeKalb County with access to everything you need. You will enjoy the friendliness of a caring community with a small town atmosphere coupled with the benefits of a growing, thriving city.

So what makes Avondale Estates so special? You'll probably get a different answer from each of our residents, but I personally believe it comes down our diverse group of people working together to build community all while protecting the resources and beauty that are evident on our tree-lined streets, beautiful lake setting, and in every corner of Avondale Estates.

We have something for everyone. Shoppers can browse through a diverse combination of contemporary and traditional businesses and shops. Following that up with a wonderful meal at some of the best restaurants around.

I encourage you to learn more about Avondale Estates by visiting AvondaleEstates.org and by keeping connected to us through social media. Feel free to browse around; we're confident you'll find what you're looking for.

On behalf of the entire city government team, we are committed to the community we love and are driven to do all we can to keep Avondale Estates the best place to live, work and play. Discover for yourself what our outstanding quality of life and great people have to offer you.

Brookhaven grows greener as time goes by.

The city spent 2017 improving city parks with new playgrounds and open fields, and 2018 was no different. With the city's $40 million parks bond that was approved by voters in November 2018 the city plans to fund several park master plan projects in the coming year.

Murphey Candler Open Space Field, one of several parks opened in the city in 2018, features an all-inclusive playground Murphey Candler Park Nature Play Zone and is said by city officials to be "calming, welcoming, useable and enjoyable for children of all abilities, including those with autism." Completion for the playground is set for spring 2019, weather permitting.

Brookhaven has grown consistently with new developments since incorporating in 2012.

The city was previously home to Creek Indians. John L. Evins began a large plantation in the area now known as Brookhaven in the early 1800s, according to the Historic Brookhaven Neighborhood Association.

Around 1900, Atlantans began building summer cottages in Brookhaven. In 1910, a group of investors from the Mechanical and Manufacturers Club purchased the land making up the Brookhaven Country Club and residential property immediately surrounding it for a development called "Brookhaven Estates." Brookhaven Country Club was incorporated in October of that year. In January 1912, it opened as Atlanta's second golf course after East Lake (1906).

Development continued when building lots along Club Drive and Stovall were offered for sale by Samuel Stovall. By 1928, eight houses had been built on these lots.

Brookhaven's older homes include designs by a number of well-known Atlanta architects of this period.

The city features single-family homes, mixed-use developments, restaurants, shops, parks and the Brookhaven Library.

The city also has a large international community along Buford Highway and Lynwood Park, which was historically an African-American neighborhood.

Brookhaven is home to Oglethorpe University, a private liberal arts college, Cross Keys High School, the Marist School, and several elementary schools.

On behalf of the city of Brookhaven, it is my pleasure to welcome you as a member of our friendly and diverse community of over 50,000 residents.

Within our borders are 14 beautifully landscaped parks featuring walking trails, dog runs, picnic facilities, lakes, solar-powered charging stations and numerous sporting venues. Also for outdoor enthusiasts, construction has begun on the exciting Peachtree Creek Greenway, part of a 12-mile linear park and path eventually connecting northeast metro communities to the Atlanta BeltLine.

Brookhaven is home to the popular annual Cherry Blossom Festival, Oglethorpe University and Children's Healthcare of Atlanta as well as the Atlanta Hawks and Emory Othopedics. Major employment opportunities can be found at top companies such as AT&T Mobility, Sysnet, The Weather Company, and Verizon Telematics.

Residents can also enjoy upscale shopping at some of the finest boutiques and shopping centers such as Town Brookhaven, a sprawling mixed-use complex with big-brand and local retailers. There's also easy access to an incredible array of international restaurants and retail shops lining nearby Buford Highway.

I encourage you to obtain valuable city information/resources by visiting www.brookhavenga.gov. If you have any questions or issues, call my office at (404) 637-0462 or email me at john.ernst@brookhavenga.gov.

Again, welcome and I hope you will enjoy living in Brookhaven!

CHAMBLEE

Uniquely

A small-town feel but a fast-growing city defined by diversity, urbanity and internationality, is what makes Chamblee unique.

Starting as a small rail incorporated town, the city is now made up of international restaurants thriving retail establishments and an impressive skyline.

From its humble origins, Chamblee has emerged as a unique urban suburb made up of approximately 30,000 residents spanning several neighborhoods. Many of the city's downtown district lofts and townhomes maintain a vintage look and period architecture.

Founded in 1908, Chamblee was originally known as Roswell Junction. The town was originally made up of dairy farms, railways and a military operations site known as Camp Gordon, which served 40,000 members of military service throughout World War I and World War II.

The city soon transitioned into mostly industrial property, an aesthetic that still can be seen in Chamblee today. The city's manufacturing and industrial jobs eventually dwindled and refugees and immigrants took advantage of Chamblee's affordable housing and proximity to Atlanta and repopulated the city's neighborhoods.

The trend of growth has yet to stop. In 2010, the city annexed more than 5,000 residents into its borders. In 2014, the city annexed 12,000 more.

Chamblee's seven parks—Dresden, Shallowford, Clairmont, Village, Keswick, Huntley Hills and City Hall—play host to a wide array of events, including a downtown concert series, food festival and holiday celebrations. In 2017, Chamblee purchased 25.4 acres of greenspace along North Shallowford Road and Buford Highway, representing a 33 percent increase in park space within city limits.

The city's Antique Row district offers prime pickings for book lovers, collectors, furniture enthusiasts and jewelers.

Chamblee is home to DeKalb-Peachtree Airport, a county-owned public airport that was established as an accompaniment of Camp Gordon. Each fall, the city hosts "Warbird Weekend," an annual airshow featuring modern and antique wartime airplanes.

Six DeKalb County School District elementary schools, two middle schools and two high schools serve Chamblee neighborhoods. St. Pius X, a private Catholic high school, is also located in Chamblee, as well as The Elaine Clark Center. Two libraries—DeKalb County's Chamblee branch and Embury Hills Library—serve the city's bookish residents.

Chamblee is home to Atlanta Chinatown, a strip mall of Asian-American owned businesses offering bakeries, restaurants, cosmetics, bookstores, the World Journal's Atlanta office and more.

Welcome to the annual issue of the destination guide for DeKalb County! I hope you will join me in celebrating what is "Uniquely DeKalb."

Chamblee certainly fits this year's theme. We have a dynamic community made up of thriving businesses and chef-driven restaurants as well as wonderful neighborhoods and a downtown that is in the midst of a transformation. Chamblee is home to award-winning "green" developments, and we are planning phase three of the Rail Trail, which will eventually connect Peachtree Station to Doraville's Assembly Yards project—even with autonomous vehicles!

I'd be remiss if I didn't mention our residents. That's what makes Chamblee unique among all others. What you'll see is the warmth of their smiles. That's what keeps me here, and I hope you can feel it too. It is a feeling of pride in our city—come to Chamblee and feel it for yourself!

Uniquely CLARKSTON

It's not hard to tell what makes Clarkston unique.

Clarkston is home to many refugees and features a hub of immigrant-owned businesses and city-dwellers hailing from Ethiopia, Somalia, Eritrea, Vietnam, Nepal and other countries across the globe. The city has been welcoming to refugees and immigrants from more than 50 countries for the past 35 years.

In the late 1990s, the United States' Asylum Program for Refugees identified Clarkston as an ideal place for refugee resettlement. The city was identified for its trend of relocating homegrown residents, inexpensive housing options and access to public transportation.

Clarkston was founded in 1882 as a railway stop between Athens and the Eastern Seaboard. It eventually grew to be one of Atlanta's first suburban communities, with residents often commuting to the big city for employment.

Clarkston originally bore the nicknames of "Goatsville" and "Angora Heights" because of the large concentration of goat farmers in the area. Angoras goats, considered to be of high quality, were prevalent in Clarkston and allowed to roam freely.

Clarkston's sole high school, Clarkston High, has incorporated this history by making the Angora its official mascot. In addition to Clarkston High School, two DeKalb County School District elementary schools and one middle school are located in Clarkston. The city is also home to Georgia Piedmont Technical College, Georgia State University's Clarkston Campus and Atlanta Area School for the Deaf.

Clarkston is along the PATH Foundation's Stone Mountain linking Atlanta's Centennial Olympic Park to Stone Mountain Park. The city is home to Communicycle, a community-founded program offering bicycle education, repair and access on a donation basis.

Clarkston's Community Center also offers youth, senior, technology and healthy living programs. Milam Park features playground equipment, a walking trail, a swimming complex, tennis courts, nature preserve and a lake for fishing.

Clarkston's Friendship Forest Park offers 15.7 acres of wildlife sanctuary and walking paths for residents and visitors. Forty Oaks Nature Preserve—near Milam Park—offers the same amenities, as Friendship Forest Park plus a community garden.

According to Clarkston officials, 75 percent of the city's population is under the age of 40. Residents speaks more than 50 languages and about 40 percent are foreign born. Approximately 85 percent of Clarkston businesses are immigrant-owned.

DECATUR

Uniquely

With incomparable street art, a thriving music scene and a wide selection of ethnic cuisines, Decatur is a unique jewel on the crown of DeKalb County.

Decatur's city limits include approximately four-square miles, with an estimated 20,000 residents.

As the designated county seat, Decatur is considered the county's administrative center, which includes the DeKalb County courthouse and DeKalb County Government Administration Building—the Manuel J Maloof Center where DeKalb County Board of Commissioners meetings and other county functions are held.

Named after Stephen Decatur, a 19th century U.S. Naval hero, Decatur was founded in 1822 on the site of two Native American trails—the Sandtown and Shallowford—the original Shallowford trail is now known as Clairmont Road.

Decatur has an independent public school system, City Schools of Decatur, with an early childhood learning center, five K-3 primary schools, the 4th/5th academy, a middle school and high school.

The school system consistently ranks at the top of Georgia public school education. According to U.S. News and World Report, Decatur High School is ranked 16th in the state among Georgia high schools and in the top 500 nationally. The district is ranked fourth in the state.

Welcome to Decatur! Only 4.5 square miles with a population of 24,000, Decatur was the smallest but mightiest city to be named a 2018 All-America City by the National Civic League for its commitment to civic engagement and inclusiveness. We maintain our own independent highly acclaimed school system and our residents are engaged and involved in community life.

You will find more than 200 local shops, restaurants, cafes, galleries, salons, and services in a city that is artsy, walkable, welcoming, and filled with a year-round calendar of festivals and events. We are located six miles east of Atlanta and are easily accessible by MARTA. We welcome you to our community – come on out and enjoy the fun!

DECATUR

Agnes Scott College, which was recently ranked as one of the best liberal arts colleges in the nation by U.S. News & World Report, is also located in Decatur.

Decatur is often described as a close-knit community with an emphasis on walkability for residents. With streetscape overhauls, infrastructure repair, safety enhancements and development projects, Decatur continues to grow and change.

Decatur has an extensive collection of art works on display around the city, ranging from sculptures installed around the square to pieces purchased at the annual Decatur Arts Festival over the years. Visitors to Decatur may notice the many unique and decorative traffic signal boxes, crosswalks and murals throughout the downtown area.

Decatur also has a vibrant brewery culture with award-winning brew pubs such as Brick Store Pub, Twain's Brewpub, 3 Taverns Brewery and Blue Tarp Brewing Co.

Decatur's variety of restaurants and fine-dining options provide many options to choose from. There are at least 10 baked goods and dessert options, including nationally recognized bakery Café at Cakes & Ale. Fine-dining options such as The Iberian Pig, Leon's Full Service and Café Lily are among the popular options available in Decatur.

The city of Doraville declared itself no more a “pass-through point” in 2018. In the past year, the city has taken several steps to broaden its appeal and be more attractive and welcoming to visitors and residents.

The city’s council moved to allow alcohol to be served at special events, bringing more business to the city. The council also approved for pubs and breweries to be established in the city, further diversifying businesses in Doraville.

The city also made an effort to be more inclusive by partnering with Welcoming America, a nonprofit and non-partisan organization that describes itself as providing the roadmap and support needed to become more welcoming toward immigrants and all residents.

Doraville also adopted a citywide nondiscrimination business ordinance that would allow an individual to file a legally enforceable complaint against a business for blatant discriminatory offenses.

Historic neighborhoods, city parks, international businesses and independent businesses are just a few of the many attributes offered by the city of Doraville.

Part of the Buford Highway Corridor, Doraville boasts more than 100 independently owned international restaurants. Diners can experience cuisines of Vietnam, Korea, Mexico, Colombia, Cambodia, the South, China, Japan and more along the city’s main thoroughfare.

Doraville’s demographics reflect the diversity of the area with 43 percent Hispanic, 28 percent White, 14 percent Black, 11 percent Asian, 2 percent Native American and 20 percent who identify as “other.” City officials estimate 56 percent of residents speak a language other than English as a first language.

Doraville is convenient for travel on I-85, I-285, Buford Highway, Peachtree Industrial Boulevard and Shallowford Road, making it an easily connectable community to Atlanta, Lenox Mall, Perimeter Mall and the rest of DeKalb County.

Doraville is also cashing in on Atlanta’s recent film boom with Assembly’s first tenant, Third Rail Studios. The studio boasts 140,000 square-feet of land and three sound stages.

Doraville offers residents and visitors several parks, including Autumn Park, Brooks Park, Chicopee Park, English Oak Park, Bernard Halpern Park and Flowers Park, all offering such amenities as open play areas, picnic areas, and playgrounds.

Doraville is served by DeKalb County School District’s Henderson Mill, Evansdale, Pleasantdale, Oakcliff, Hightower and Cary Reynolds elementary schools as well as Sequoyah Middle School, Chamblee Charter High School and Cross Keys High School, and currently under construction, a new Cross Keys Elementary School.

Tapestry Charter Middle School, Atlanta Jewish Academy, Sophia Academy and Northwoods Montessori School are also located in Doraville.

Welcome to Doraville

Centrally located and personifying DeKalb County’s uniqueness, Doraville is a thriving international community, with cozy forested historic and contemporary neighborhoods.

Not just labels, Doraville is a City of Ethics and a Tree City which gives you a peek into our community values.

A community that embraces progress and encourages originality, Doraville is a welcoming “city that connects.” Recognized for embracing diversity and promoting inclusion, the city also has excellent international culinary experiences (more than 100 internationally-known ethnic restaurants) and a notable multi-modal transportation network, Doraville is a vibrant residential and commercial hub.

As Doraville’s mayor, I invite you to come be part of our city, a place to stay for a lifetime.

The 10-year anniversary of Dunwoody becoming a city of DeKalb County was marked in 2018.

Following unprecedented growth spurred by neighboring areas of Atlanta and a three-year, citizen-led movement, Dunwoody was officially incorporated as a DeKalb County city in December 2008. The city has 48,733 residents, according to the 2015 census.

Today, Dunwoody is an engaged community with an active hospitality center situated at the top end of DeKalb County. Bordering Fulton and Gwinnett counties, the city stands as Atlanta's northern crossroads due to its proximity to I-285 and GA-400.

Residents of Dunwoody can enjoy the city's vast number of parks, community involvement, access to Atlanta, urban amenities in a suburban setting and career opportunities, according to city officials. Dunwoody is dedicated to the improvement of transportation and transit initiatives to help ensure the area's employees, residents and visitors have convenient options for moving to and through the city. Greenspace, multi-use trails, playgrounds, park facilities and other community assets provide improved lifestyle opportunities and health benefits.

The city is rapidly becoming one of metro Atlanta's leaders in commerce and transportation. Dunwoody is recognized as one of Atlanta's business districts, with such companies as Cox Media Group, State Farm, Macy's, T-Mobile and Six Continents Hotels calling the city home.

Dunwoody is known for a rich history dating back to the early 1800s. The city is named after Major Charles Dunwoody, a businessman-turned-Confederate Army official. It is believed the extra "o" currently used in the spelling of the city's name was added due to the region's dense forestry.

The city is home to Ebenezer Primitive Baptist Church, founded in 1829, one of the oldest and most historic buildings in the metro Atlanta area. The church, located at Roberts Drive and Spalding Drive, is still active.

Dunwoody is also home to Donaldson-Bannister Farm, a house built in the 1870s following the end of the Civil War. The house is used for public and private events such as weddings and family reunions.

Dunwoody is known for its schools, parks and retail options. Dunwoody is home to the Dunwoody Nature Center, the Stage Door Players theater company, Perimeter Mall, the Marcus Jewish Community Center Atlanta, Spruill Center for the Arts and Dunwoody Preservation Trust all of which provide amenities, events, shows and classes.

Education and workforce development are an integral part of the city's lifeblood, according to city officials. The city boasts top educational opportunities from five DeKalb County School District elementary schools, one middle school and one high school as well as Georgia State University's Dunwoody campus, Troy University's Atlanta campus and American Intercontinental University's Dunwoody campus.

Dunwoody is a member of the Perimeter Business Alliance, the Perimeter Community Improvement Districts and the Atlanta Regional Commission—organizations dedicated to the betterment of the region.

On behalf of the City of Dunwoody and its citizens, I welcome you to our beautiful city! December 1, 2018 marks the 10th Anniversary of Dunwoody becoming a city. Since the city's incorporation we've witnessed tremendous growth and success. The city is home to notable parks and recreation locations, plays host to a wide range of premier events, an abundance of dining options and encompasses the area's top shopping and retail destinations. Most of all, the citizens that live, work and play in Dunwoody are fantastic and friendly!

Dunwoody is home to Brook Run Park; at 102 acres it is one of the largest parks in the region. Currently Brook Run Park is undergoing updates which will provide citizens and visitors with upgrades for future events, concerts, recreational activities, sporting events and programming. The City of Dunwoody also encompasses the Perimeter Area which includes Perimeter Mall and the Dunwoody MARTA Station. Today we are able to boast as a premier destination, seen as one of the Southeast's strongest and most dynamic locations for business and economic development.

Our citizens have a great deal of pride in their city, from our friendly neighborhoods to our thriving business community and we welcome all who come to live and visit!

Denis Shortal
Mayor, City of Dunwoody

What do a 1,500 year old board game and computer science education have in common?

Both are being used by Unconditional Love for Children Inc. to teach youth the critical thinking and problem solving skills they desperately need through coding and chess instruction.

Checkmate Chess Academy offers youth chess instruction each Saturday 10:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m. $50 monthly or 10 sessions for $150.

Chess improves critical thinking skills, helps to improve test scores, sharpens problem solving abilities, promotes self-esteem and allows participants to participate in local- and national-rated chess tournaments.

SCRATCH Coding for beginners classes are offered each Saturday 9:30-10:30 a.m. at $15 per student, per class.

Coding has similar benefits to chess. It also helps with computational thinking, creativity, fluid thinking and innovation while allowing participants to communicate across countries and cultures.

Johnson Granite Co., Lithonia, Ga.

Johnson Granite Co., Lithonia, Ga.

Lithonia's uniqueness is in the city's name.

The city is surrounded by granite and its name is credited to a teacher of Greek combining lithos (stone) and onia (place). Lithonia gneiss has played a role in construction throughout the United States since 1879 and is featured in much of the city's architecture.

Before Lithonia became a city, it was a crossroads settlement that served the trading needs of a community of rural farmers. Lithonia then grew with the development of the Georgia Railroad—now CSX.

The rail line, which runs through the city, connected Lithonia with Atlanta and Augusta in 1845. In the late 19th century, the line allowed Lithonia to prosper as a center of the regional granite industry, according to the city's Historic Preservation.

Today Lithonia's historic downtown is a mix of commercial and residential development representing common late-19th- to mid-20th-century housing types and styles. Main Street runs parallel to the Georgia/CSX Railroad corridor.

Commercial buildings made of brick and gneiss are in a two-block area along Main Street from its intersection with the railroad. Community landmark buildings in the historic district include the Masonic Lodge (1916), the Lithonia Woman's Club (1928), the Lithonia First United Methodist Church—originally Lithonia M.E. Church (1910), Antioch Baptist Church (1911), The Union Missionary Church (1911), the Bruce Street Elementary and High School (1955), and "The Seminary" (1895), which was individually listed in the National Register in 1978.

Lithonia is home of the Collard Green Cultural Festival, which is held every September at the Lithonia City Park and Amphitheater. The city also established its own farmer's market in 2016.

The city also features Lithonia Middle School, Lithonia Davidson Library and a new apartment complex—Granite Crossing.

The City of Lithonia enjoys a unique place in DeKalb County. We are listed on the National Register of Historic Places and pedestrian-friendly, with great architecture and lots of history to explore. In our downtown Main Street, one can enjoy smoothies and healthy snacks; test video gaming skills; or experience an eclectic array of clothing, accessories and art at great prices.

There are also a variety of barbers, hair stylists and a tailor to keep you looking good. Come visit us and learn more at www.cityolithoniaga.org.

PINE LAKE

Uniquely

Spanning 0.2 square miles, Pine Lake is DeKalb County's smallest city.

The city sports a lake, is located within a forest and has a population of fewer than 800; it's easy to see why people migrate to and stay in the city of Pine Lake.

Once considered a weekend retreat for residents from the greater Atlanta area to escape the "big city," Pine Lake was established in 1937. Lots in Pine Lake originally sold for as low as $69.

Weekenders eventually began calling Pine Lake their permanent home and began convincing their friends to move there as well. Today, approximately 700 people call Pine Lake their primary residence.

Pine Lake is named after its central feature, a lake made from a widened portion of Snapfinger Creek, which runs through the city. The city was originally part of a DeKalb County farm and the valley where the city sits was once cornfields.

Today, the lake is known as the city's meeting place and center of activities. In 2014, the lake served as a "living lab" for students taking a permaculture certification course in which they researched, explored and offered solutions to several of the city's environmental concerns.

In 2017, Pine Lake began examining nearby properties for annexation. City officials have held several meetings discussing annexation but none have yet come to fruition.

The city is known by many for its laidback atmosphere, consideration of the environment, community involvement and volunteerism. The city is self-described as a safe space for the LGBTQ community and other "straight-but-not-narrow" people.

Pine Lake is home to many artists who show their artwork publicly via yard art, quirky fence decoration and in-home studios. The city's lake house offers classes on subjects such as environment, sculpture and creative dramatics during the summer.

Pine Lake's LakeFest is known for its showcase of local talent, outdoor concerts and local cuisine. The festival also includes live music, a sand sculpture contest, a citywide dance, a sidewalk chalk art contest and Floatzilla, a lake parade of floating floats.

The city is also home to several 6-foot by 10-foot community gardens plots, each owned by Pine Lake but available for rent for $20.

The Pine Lake Lounge, also known as the Pine Lake Lakehouse, showcases jazz, blues, songwriters, solo acts and poetry readings the second Saturday of every month.

Pine Lake is located between Clarkston and Stone Mountain along Rockbridge Road to the south and Ridge Drive to the north.

Schools in Pine Lake include DeKalb County School District's Rockbridge Elementary School, Stone Mountain Middle School and Stone Mountain High School. Many families also choose to use International Community School, a public charter school local to the area.

City of Pine Lake

As the smallest city in DeKalb County, Pine Lake is "micropolitan." It's a place where every effort, idea and individual involvement quickly becomes part of the natural flow of civic life.

Pine Lake is proud of our water and trees and the small homes that don't compete with the natural environment. It is the beach and the park and the wetlands that become our real living rooms. What many love about Pine Lake is the swimming and singing and the dancing that happens on city streets.

Pine Lake is where the stranger becomes a neighbor and the neighbor becomes a friend.

Welcome home

Melanie Hammet
Mayor, City of Pine Lake

STONECREST

Uniquely

Stone Mountain Park gets a lot of attention because of its size, its history and the activities and attractions it provides.

But DeKalb County has another mountain that has deep history and can be explored by tourists, and it's located in Stonecrest. Arabia Mountain, a granite monadnock, is the feature attraction of the Arabia Mountain National Heritage Area.

The Arabia Mountain monadnock, or an isolated and exposed rock outcropping, is one of the few in Georgia. Other nearby monadnocks include Stone Mountain and Panola Mountain. The unique topography and geology of a monadnock allows for unusual plant and animal species to thrive. Arabia Mountain has five species that are listed as both state and federally endangered, including the bright-red diamorpha plant that lives in small pools of water that form on the rock's surface.

The Davidson family owned Arabia Mountain during the 20th century, and by the 1960s, Davidson Granite Enterprises was the largest producer of granite in the world. In the 1970s, the Davidson family donated more than 500 acres of Arabia Mountain and surrounding lands to DeKalb County as a nature preserve for residents to enjoy. Since then, the park has been expanded several times and now includes 2,550 acres, several granite outcrops and two lakes.

The Davidson-Arabia Mountain Nature Preserve includes large formations of exposed granite, wetlands, pine and oak forests, multiple streams and two lakes. Stonecrest is also home to the Flat Rock Archives.

The Flat Rock Archives is another unique feature of Stonecrest. It is housed in the ancestral home of Rev. T.A. Bryant Jr. He donated the house, built by his father in 1917, to house collections from, and tell stories of the Flat Rock community. Flat Rock Archives President Johnny Waits, who is a descendant of one of DeKalb County's oldest families, guides visitors through the history of the traditionally African-American community and offers tours of the Lyons Farm and a slave cemetery.

The city's namesake comes from The Mall at Stonecrest, a two-level shopping complex located in the heart of the city. The mall is surrounded by a community that features homes, a movie theater, hotels and restaurants.

There are nine schools in the city, including Arabia Mountain High School, which is one of the top schools in the area and provides students with an environmental, energy and engineering magnet program for grades nine through 12.

Mayor Jason Lary

WELCOMES

you to DeKalb's newest and largest city!

Stonecrest is a vibrant community with a small-town atmosphere. Affordable housing, great restaurants, a 1.2 million square foot shopping mall and excellent health care options are but a few of the attributes of the city situated near the Arabia Mountain National Heritage Area

STONE MOUNTAIN

STONE MOUNTAIN

Uniquely

There are many unique aspects about the city of Stone Mountain.

From Stone Mountain Park to Stone Mountain Village, visitors can see and experience the uniqueness of the city. Before tourists visit the park, they often visit the Stone Mountain Depot Welcome Center and Village Museum. The center is located on Main Street in the old Train Depot.

The Train Depot has an extensive history in Stone Mountain. The south side of the train depot was built in 1857 after the Georgia Railroad Company completed the line from Madison to Atlanta. The north side was built in 1914 as a passenger office and waiting room. In the early 1960s, the train depot served as the city hall and city jail. It remained in use until 2012 when the new municipal building was completed.

The Train Depot is a landmark in Stone Mountain Village, which was established in the early 1800s. The area that now makes up the city of Stone Mountain was incorporated into the newly formed DeKalb County in 1822. A post office was created in 1834, a hotel was built in 1836 and an observation tower was built at the summit of the mountain.

By 1839, a general store was added, and the village was established under the name New Gibraltar. The name was officially changed to Stone Mountain by the Georgia Legislature in 1847.

During the Civil War, Stone Mountain Village was destroyed by troops under the command of General James Birdseye McPherson on July 19, 1864. On Nov. 16, 1864, General William Sherman's Union troops destroyed the railroad tracks to the north of the mountain during the March to the Sea.

The railroad track is the oldest structure that was burned by Sherman during the Civil War that is still in use today.

Many Civil War veterans are buried in Stone Mountain Cemetery. The cemetery was established in 1850 and is also the final resting place for the village's settlers, granite cutters, farmers and townspeople. The cemetery is complemented by its granite entry piers, carved headstones and mausoleums. The historic landmark draws visitors interested in family and local history as well as passersby attracted by its unique features and walkability.

Another attraction in the city is ART Station, a contemporary arts center housing a small theater, five art galleries, a gift shop, rehearsal space, dance and music studios, ceramics studio, box-office, production and administrative space.

Stone Mountain features many small businesses, biking trails and local parks for residents and visitors. The city is also home to Stone Mountain Elementary School, Champion Middle School and Georgia Military College.

TUCKER

Uniquely

Since its incorporation in 2016, Tucker has become a city where people can live, work, play and pray.

The city steadily welcomes new businesses, including Tucker Brewing Company, which moved to the city in 2018. New residential communities are being built; there have been improvements to parks, pools and the Tucker Recreation Center since the city took control of parks and recreation within the city; and the faith community continues to thrive.

The Tucker community was established in 1892. Georgia, Carolina and Northern Railway in 1892 built a railroad through the center of what is now called Tucker. The area had been known as Browning's District until 1907 when the Seaboard Line Railway acquired the railroad and surveyed the unincorporated town and named it after an officer of the company, Capt. Tucker.

Tucker, with strong community support, grew into a desirable location with a mix of residential, office, commercial and industrial properties, along with parks and green space. City officials are using an advanced public-private partnership to deliver services to Tucker's 35,000 residents and business owners.

Main Street is always busy with activities due in part to the work of Tucker's Main Street Alliance. There are annual events, such as Tucker Day, Christmas on Main Street, the Tucker Chili Cook-off and more.

Main Street also hosts a weekly farmers market.

Tucker is home to Tucker High, Tucker Middle School and several elementary schools. There is also the Tucker-Reid H. Cofer Library.

Tucker is full of families of every size and shape, living in a diverse variety of homes. It's a place where you can find work for a career or for Christmas break. It has parks, restaurants and entertainment of all kinds. It's a rich faith community where you can find a home for worship. Live, work, play, pray.

All that in a genuine small town filled with families that have been here for generations, living alongside those who have only recently discovered the place they want to live their whole lives. It's fantastic to live where people love the place they live.

Frank Auman
Mayor, City of Tucker
